לע"נ פעסל בת ישראל מנחם, שירי בת יוסף (ביבס), אריאל בן ירדן (ביבס), כפיר בן ירדן (ביבס) / לזכות חילינו

A student once asked the Chofetz Chaim, "What is the greatest mitzvah I can do?"

Instead of answering, the Chofetz Chaim walked over to the door, held it open for a stranger, and then returned.

*"Sometimes," he said, "the greatest mitzvah is the one right in front of you.
Never underestimate the power of small acts."*

THE CHOFETZ CHAIM, RABBI YISRAEL MEIR KAGAN (1838-1933)

No matter how many times you may fall, Hashem will always be there to catch you.

BASED ON THE TEACHINGS OF REBBE NACHMAN (1772-1810)

Prayer is the power cord that connects you to the power source.

RABBI DANIEL AGALAR

Don't mistake Hashem's patience for His absence. His timing is perfect, and His presence is constant.

FLASHES OF INSPIRATION

Shabbos is Hashem's weekly love letter to the Jewish people, inviting us to escape our troubles and uncertainties, inviting us to recoup from our exhaustion and weariness. Hashem says:

It's been a long, chaotic and turbulent week. I know because I was there with you through it all.
When you felt joy, I felt joy; when you felt pain, I felt pain...

I have seen your struggles and I have seen your tears. I know the burdens you carry, the questions that weigh on your hearts, and the fears that can sometimes cloud your faith.
But I want you to know that I have never left your side, not for a moment.

Rest assured, My precious child, a new dawn is on the horizon. I know it may be difficult to see, but things will get better – far beyond your wildest imagination... I have made certain promises to those who came before you, and I always keep My promises. Redemption is not a dream; it is a certainty.

But for now, for the next 25 hours, let us put all our worries, fears and anxieties aside...
Just for today, let us simply be together – you and Me – without any worries or concerns.

Let us escape the cold, dark and harsh surroundings, and let us warm our bodies and souls by the Light of Shabbos.

Let us get a glimpse of true freedom; freedom from sadness, freedom from hate, freedom from pain.

Let us experience a taste of the World to Come.

With everlasting love,

Your Father in Heaven
