NOAM ELIMELECH, RABBI ELIMELECH OF LIZHENS (1717-1787)

*The Baal Shem Tov teaches, "When a Jew truly rejoices, even the harshest decrees can be nullified."
The joy of Purim is not just an emotion - it's a spiritual force that transforms reality.*

MEANINGFUL MINUTE

On Purim you see many people dressed in different costumes, one is a clown, one is an animal, and one you don't even know what he's wearing. Do you get angry or upset with them? No, because you know it's just a costume.

In life, we meet many people. One is impatient, one is angry, one is apathetic... This is not who they really are. This is just a "costume." Deep in their heart, they are all warm Jews, full of purity and beauty.

We just need to interact with them with kindness and tenderness and take off their "costumes" to reveal the pure soul inside each one.

לע'נ פעסל בת ישראל מנחם / לזכות חילינו

The story of Purim reminds us that even when things seem uncertain or dire, there is a greater plan unfolding. Sometimes, the answers we seek are hidden beneath layers of struggle. It is a celebration of courage, faith, and the unseen miracles that shape our lives; it is a celebration of resilience, and the triumph of light over darkness.

But at its heart, Purim is also a story of unity – the power of people coming together to overcome even the greatest challenges.

When faced with the threat of annihilation, we did not scatter in fear. Instead, Esther instructs Mordechai, "Go, assemble all the Jews..."

We united in fasting, prayer, and action. Esther may have been the one to step into the king's court, but she did so with the strength of an entire nation behind her. Through our togetherness, our fate was transformed.

Life can sometimes feel uncertain, even frightening. But Purim reminds us that we are never truly alone.

What appears to be hopeless can transform into hope. What feels like defeat can turn into victory.

When we stand together, supporting and uplifting one another, we become stronger than any obstacle. Just as the Jewish people found salvation through their shared strength, so too can we face life's struggles with confidence, knowing that we do not walk our path alone.

So remember, no matter how difficult things may seem, no matter what challenges you may be facing:

Venahafoch hu – everything can turn around in an instant. Darkness can turn to light, fear to joy, and despair to celebration. When we hold onto each other, when we build community and act with kindness, we create space for miracles to unfold. Purim teaches us that through unity, faith, and courage, everything will be okay.
