

At Hotels and on Planes:

10. If a man is staying in a hotel or flying on a plane, he may allow the waitress or stewardess to serve him (or a woman may allow a waiter or steward to serve her) because when a hired worker serves a customer, it is not done as a sign of closeness; rather, it is only done as part of a job. Furthermore, many other people are present at the time. (Aruch Hashulchan EH
