

Practical Suggestions:

- In order to avoid any awkward situations, it is advisable to establish in one's workplace that men and women should not directly hand objects to each other and should instead place the objects down.
 - If one wants to avoid taking an object from another's hand without awkwardness or ill will, they can keep their hands full and/or busy, and then ask the person to place the object down.
-